Forensic League holds first round of speeches on 12th

The St. Joseph Valley Forensic League will hold its opening round of speeches at Mishawaka High School on December 12th at 2:30 p.m. Each school will have two representatives. The two representatives from Riley have not as yet been selected.

First round is extemporaneous

The first round of speeches will be extemporaneous in nature. Each contestant will select a topic of a current event, from a hat, which will be taken from one of the magazines that have been published since the beginning of September. Each contestant will then have thirty minutes to prepare for the speech which will last for five minutes. The speeches will either inform the audience of the topic or they will present one side of the issue in the form of a speech to persuade.

Six rounds are held

There will be six rounds this year. The next round will be a speech to persuade, the next three will be debates, and the last speech will be an after-dinner speech.

Debaters attend Conference on December 7 and 8

Fifteen attend Purdue Clinic to gain points on current resolution

The Thirteenth Annual Debaters' Conference and Legislative Assembly will be held at Purdue University on December 7th and 8th. This is a clinic for debaters throughout the entire state. Exhibition debates and discussions will be held to point out the important points on this year's resolution: Resolved: that the United States should adopt a policy of reciprocal free trade with non-communist nations. There will be an open debate between the Indiana High School Champion and the National Forensic League National Finalist, and also, one between Purdue University and Ohio State University (winners of the West Point National Collegiate Tourney).

Convention is divided

The convention is divided into four groups. The Legislative is the group concerned with finding plans and bells to fit the resolution. Those on the Legislative from Riley are: Mike Hehl, Ralph Johnson, and Brent McKesson. They will present a bill to the House of Representatives and it will be voted on by other schools. The Senator who will represent Riley in the Senate is Fred Rosenfeld.

The discussion committee will discuss: What should be the foreign trade policy of the United States. The members of this committee are Jim Fisher, Mike Coffman, Mike Lerman, Leonard Means, and Jon Trimble.

Four in extemporaneous part

The extemporaneous diversion will be handled by Gary Erickson, Sharon Null, Andrea Shuff, and Roy Wead. They will be required to give a five to seven minute speech on a given magazine article with thirty minutes preparation.

Other members going will be Mr. Goodman, coach; and Carter Keithly, auditor.

Debaters will leave today

These students and coach will leave school at 8:00 Friday morning and do their best to represent Riley High School to their best ability.

Riley students work at WETL radio

Several Riley students are working at WETL, the radio station owned and operated by the South Bend Community School Corporation. These students get valuable training in the mechanics of running a real radio station. The student operator is responsible for everything that goes on the air from WETL.

Riley students working there during their free time are: Greg Bunting, who takes care of some of the tapes and runs the programs one afternoon; Harvey Gluck, who takes the station over on Monday afternoons from 3:00 to 4:00; Greg Hacker, who has a disc-jockey show on Mondays during the lunch hour; Tom Holmes, who takes care of the educational broadcasts on Wednesday and Friday afternoons; and Linda Rushing, who runs the station from 1:30 to 3:00 on Mondays.

Glee Club to present Christmas assemblies

On Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of next week, the Senior Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Ruby L. Williams, will present their annual Christmas assemblies. This year, the assemblies will be a little different from those in the past years. They will be divided into two parts: The sacred and the secular.

New hymns to be sung

The sacred portion will be sung entirely in the balcony. All of the sacred numbers are new and have never been sung by the Glee Club before. These numbers include "Alleluia, Christ Is Born," "The Shepherds Gathered Round," an old French Provincial Carol-tune; "The Angel's Song," a traditional French carol; "There Were Shepherds Abiding in the Fields," and the "Song of Mary."

Sixteen sing 'O Tannebaum'

A special group of sixteen will sing the first verse of "O Tannebaum" in German, followed by the entire Glee Club singing in English. This will lead into the secular part. The Glee Club will sing "Do You Believe in Santa Claus?" from the Gingerbread Man; "Hail Kris Kringle" from Victor Herbert's Babes in Toyland; the modern day Santa Claus will be represented by the song "Be a Santa," which is from one of the current Broadway shows.

Freshman chorus will participate

A picked group from the Freshman chorus classes of Miss Williams and Mrs. McMillan will augment the Glee Club in the singing of a group of traditional Christmas carols.

Soloists will be Nancy Nall, Pam Stone, Joyce Bowers, and John Paulson. Accompanists will be Marcie Smiley, Karen Keltner, and Ken Kidder.

Glee Club to give other programs

For the next few weeks special groups from the Glee Club will present Christmas programs outside of the school. On Tuesday, December 4, Pam Pearson, Karen Overlease, and Karen Keltner gave a program of the First Methodist Church for the Senior Citizens' Christmas Luncheon.

On Tuesday, December 11, a group of eight high school students will present a special program at the Indiana Club for Mrs. E. M. Morris' annual Turkey Dinner. The students from Riley are Pam Stone, Nancy Nall, Sheldon Swedarsky, Sue Messersmith, and Jerry Troyer (alumnus). Connie Riffel will do several special dances, and Marcie Smiley will accompany.

'The Fire Fly' is spring musical

On Friday, December 14, thirty members from the Glee Club will sing at the Masonic Temple for an area meeting of the spring musical. This year they will present Rudolf Friml's "The Fire Fly" on

'Hamlet' to be presented December 8th on WNDU-TV by University group

WNDU-TV will present a special two-hour performance of Shakespeare's Hamlet tomorrow night at 9:00 p.m. The performance will be given by the University of Notre Dame's University Theatre group. This production was directed for the stage by Reverend Arthur S. Harvey, C.S.C. The television producer is Paul Walton and the director is Dr. Terence Spencer.

'Hamlet' is one of series

The presentation of Hamlet is the last of three such programs shown by WNDU. The first was given on Friday, November 30, at 7:30 p.m. The program was entitled Shakespeare: Soul of an Age. Sir Michael Redgrave read excerpts from Shakespeare's plays.

'Cyrano de Bergerac' presented

The second was presented last night at 9:30 by the Hallmark Hall of Fame. It was an hour and a half production of Cyrano de Bergerac by Edmund Rostand. Christopher Plummer starred as Cyrano with Hope Lange as Roxanne.

These programs were designed to be of interest to those interested in the classic plays as well as English students in general and drama students especially.

March 21, 22 and 23. Tryouts will be held the week before vacation.

WJA-TV presents panel quiz program beginning January 12

On January 12, 1963, a completely new television show will make its debut on WNDU-TV at 6:00 p.m. The name of the show is "If I Could Trade Places," and it is completely written and produced by a group of eighteen teenagers forming the Junior Achievement television company, WJA-TV.

Three in WJA-TV

This is the second year for a J.A. television company in South Bend. Last year WJA-TV produced "Club 6-Teen," a teenage variety type program. The company ended the year by being one of the few Junior Achievement television companies in the country to wind up with a profit. Two Rileyites from last year's company are also members of the company this year. They are Pam Stone and Nancy Nall. Also from Riley is Phyllis Perkins.

WJA-TV gives panel show

This year's "If I Could Trade Places" is a panel quiz program, with a talent showcase incorporated into the format. During the course of the program, a panel of four will try to guess who various contestants would like to trade places with. This will be done by asking questions in an allotted time. Three of the panelists will be regular members, while the fourth will be a special panelist each week, who has accomplished something or won something of importance. The Talent Showcase will feature local high school talent — singers, dancers, musicians, readers, etc. Anyone interested in appearing on this portion of the show should contact Pam Stone or Nancy Nall.

WNDU-TV is sponsoring WJA-TV again this year. The three advisors from WNDU and their areas are Mr. John E. McCullough, production, Mr. William A. Garden, sales, and Mrs. Ann James, accounting.

The Day of Infamy

FLASH! RUSSIAN MISSILES ARE HEADED TOWARD THE U.S. Terrifying? Of course. But just 21 years ago a report as serious to the people of the U.S. blared over radio on a quiet Sunday afternoon. On December 7, 1941 ("the Day of Infamy"), Pearl was attacked.

Now just what should this mean to us? It is true that since we were born after this tragic happening, it seems only like printed history. However, we should remember it, if only for a selfish purpose — to never let our defenses be lacking enough to leave us vulnerable to attack.

We can endure if we, as future leaders, take enough interest in our country to preserve it. We must remain alert and constantly ready for about any form of catastrophe in this age of bombs and missiles. No, we do not agree with the idea of better Red than dead. Instead, we say better READY than dead.

Hi-Times Editor, Roberta Shapiro, plans to become secondary history teacher

By SANDY DICKEY

"I am enjoying my senior year because I am more active than ever before and also because, probably for the first time, I am really beginning to learn. I believe that no person truly learns until he realizes how little he knows and how much there is for his asking. Each day I try to grasp at least one bit seem to realize that this is their paper, and it needs their support."

Attends I.U. Institute

This summer Roberta attended the I.U. High School Journalism Institute where she gained ideas for the paper. "The editors were divided into workshops according to the frequency of their papers. Ideas, problems, and plans were discussed here."

Although she feels she has been "bitten by the journalism bug," Roberta does not consider journalism as her future occupation. She plans on majoring in history and minoring in English at I.U. and becoming a secondary history teacher. "My interest in history was instilled by some teachers I have had and have at Riley. I believe that we need a knowledge of history to face the future with enough intelligence to exist. We also have a heritage to be proud of, but before we can be proud we must learn about it and try to understand it. Someday I hope to show my students that history can be interesting because it is really a study of people, not just dates. After all, what is more interesting than people?"

Before teaching, however, Roberta plans on participating in the Peace Corps. "It is still a dream, but to really live a full life, one must in some way serve his fellow man. The Peace Corps seems to be one way of helping."

Use gray matter

To the younger students at Riley: "Don't always follow the group. Use some of that God-given gray matter before you make a decision. And above all, do not let shyness hold you back or force you to completely conform. Speak up and stand on your own feet, for you'll have to sooner or later. How can you learn to speak up? Join the outspoken HI-TIMES staff — why not?"

Frosh elect officers; Jim Gruver, pres., comments on office

By MARCIA HASLETT

Riley's 700 "frosh" recently held their elections. The following have been chosen to guide their class through the coming year at Riley: Jim Gruver, President; Ken Poznanski, Vice-President; Mary Jo Wieand, Secretary; Marsha Hammons, Treasurer; and Debbie Williams, Social Chairman.

Jim comments, "I appreciate this opportunity to acknowledge my election to the office of Freshman class President. I am eagerly looking forward to participating in the activities of the coming school year, and I will do everything possible to make the class of 1966 one of which Riley can be proud. I also believe that this office will enable me to meet more people and interpret the wants of the class."

Jim states that he is particularly interested in the field of medicine, especially in orthodontia. He would like to attend I.U. or Notre Dame for his pre-medical training.

Ken Poznanski is V.P.

Ken is extremely glad he was elected to the office of Vice-President and feels it will help him in anything he does. Ken's interests include football and basketball and he plans to make a career in professional sports. His choice of college is Indiana State.

Treasurer encourages suggestions

The person handling the money, Marsha, believes her office will help her in planning a budget and in her future career in the field of business. She hopes to attend a business college to train for secretarial work. "I plan to put the suggestions of the other students to work and their money to good use."

Debbie feels her job will help her to get along with other people and give her practice in organizing activities. She expresses the hope that this year's dance will be a great success.

Riley grads are busy at college, work; I.U., Purdue, I.U. Extension claim many

By BECKY PERKEY

Many of you have been wondering what has happened to some of our past graduates.

Indiana University: Quite a number of the graduates are now attending Indiana University. Some of them are Gail Howes, Nancy Jo Pinney, Louis Swedarsky, Becky Newhard, Nancy Shinneman, and Betts Allen. Others are Sally Yoder, Sharon Csernits, and Davine Preger.

I.U. Extension: It seems that the Extension is becoming more and more popular each semester. Some of our alumni who are furthering their studies at the Extension this fall are John Auer, Dave Izdepski, Janet Sailor, Judy Arch, Judy Long, Cliff Copeland, Tim McKee, Max Balm, and Tom Davis.

Ball State Teachers College: The following are now attending Ball State — Linda and Sue Switzer, Sandra Tansey, John Byers, Dennis Hague, Rosalie Kumm, Ellen Van de Walle, Sandra Garbaez, and Craig Hostermen.

Purdue: Sue Barnfield, Carol Huber, Tom Weller, Tony Skarich, Joan Hanwell, Carl Morris, Rick Horvath, Alden Balmer, David Means and Ron Anderson are students at Purdue.

Western Michigan: Western Michigan claims Susie Page, Gerry Reinke, Paul Nelson, Hal Widener, and Jim Perkins.

Other colleges: Of course there are many colleges which are now being attended by our past graduates. Some of them are the following: Bob Knechel, Gary Gearhart, Betty Sousley, at Manchester College — Georgia Polovina at Illinois College of Commerce — Terrie Kercher at Wittenberg College — Kent Williams at Butler — Anne Messerly at Vassar (she is a reporter for the school paper, Miscellaneous News) — and Judy Areen at Cornell. Gene Kaminski, now working, plans to enter Santa Ana Junior College, Santa Ana, California, in the fall of 1963.

Writer describes non-conformists

By ELLEN HARTMAN

Beatniks were the rage across America several years ago. The "beat way" has died down some, but their influence is still upon us, in a new group of youth officially dubbed the "non-conformists." The teenagers who are really enthusiastic about this live by a special code of being completely different. You brush your teeth in the morning; they brush theirs in the middle of the night. You put your left shoe on first — they put their right on first. If you read a newspaper (like the HI-TIMES!) starting on the first page, they start at the end and work toward the front. You sleep with your head on the pillow; they put their feet on it — yes, I AM kidding! Nevertheless, these non-conformists who refuse to conform for the sake of non-conformity (have I lost you?) have their own original ideas on practically everything. A good example of this is seen in their poetry. Compare this:

Other fields: Many girls are interested in the field of nursing. This interest finds Mary Spinsky and Mary Lou Schille studying at the James Ward Thorne School of Nursing in Chicago. Nancy Postle is now in nurses training at Memorial Hospital, and Sue Harmon is a student at Holy Cross School of Nursing.

Mike Skaret (at John Herron Art Institute) and Becky Christaens and Mary Ann Richardson (at an art school in Chicago) have chosen an art career for their future.

Each year many students decide on a working career at various places. Ron Jernstrom is working at Associates, Pam Solbrig is a dental assistant, and Karl Malling, Don Lang, Mary Rhodes, Donna Spinsky, and Ray Shreiner are also working.

"I walk with a man who is not a man . . .
... dull existence which has made him thus! . . ."

to this:

"Animal crackers and cocoa to drink,
That is the finest of suppers,
I think;
When I'm grown up and can do what I please,
I think I shall always insist upon these . . ."

The first poem was written by a 19-year-old non-conformist; the second by the noted poet Christopher Morley. The young 19-year-old girl's poem is titled "inexistentialism" (try that for a tongue-twister) and continues:

"... he is the Jones or Brown or Cole who resides (for how can it be said that he lives) in Suburbia.
He is the man in the Gray Flannel Strait Jacket."

If you're in any way typical of most people, you appreciated the second poem more than the first. Maybe some of you did understand the meaning of the first poem. No doubt you have some special sense for this non-conformist's poetry, because I read it over seven times and still don't understand it (I think it's the line about the "Gray Flannel Strait Jacket" that doesn't sink in). But no matter how you feel about this (conforming to conformity or conforming to non-conformity), you'll have to admit the whole idea is pretty fascinating (or crazy?).

Future Teachers has a new club sponsor; Booster Club plans activities for members

By MARILYN FERWERDA

Mrs. Carpenter is the new sponsor of the F.T.A. this year. The membership consists of fifty-three girls. In the past they have had a cookie sale which helped raise funds for their present project. The F.T.A. has selected a single needy family to help during the Christmas season. It will bring the family food, toys, and a Christmas tree.

Guests give talks

During the club period, speakers have been asked to give talks. For example, Kay Keller showed slides that she took while she was in Turkey, and Mary Rudolph will tell about her trip to France.

Booster Club Council cut

The Booster Club was cut down to forty-three members this year. Members were chosen on past merit and work in Booster Club activities. The elected officers are: Andie Shuff—President

Sally Shellhouse—Vice President

Susie Ryan—Secretary

Margaret Bintinger—Treasurer

Marsha Perkins and Kathy Sweitzer—Sergeants-at-Arms

Upcoming activities of the Booster Club include more night meetings for the entire Booster Club, new student directories, a basketball victory dance, more cookie sales, and selling Riley Basketball pins.

Riley students help in hospital

By SUSAN DANCH

Candy strippers and junior gray ladies make up a large share of the help at St. Joseph and Memorial Hospitals.

The candy strippers must be at least 16 years of age and in high school. The majority of them are members of the Future Nurses Club. The Junior Gray Ladies must be 16 years old.

Duties are given

The duties of the candy strippers are: to feed the patients, run errands, replace ice, write letters, answer lights, check on appetites, walk the patients and help them to sit up. The candy strippers work only on one floor. In this way they can get close to the patients and help keep their morale up.

Work on all floors

The gray ladies, however, work on all floors. The take flowers, books, and newspapers to patients and also run errands for them.

Among the Junior Gray Ladies from Riley are: Marg Bintinger, Dolores Forslund, Andie Shuff, Michon Eberhard, Chris Palmer, Penny Buckler, Cheryl McCuen, Engrid Smiley, Carol Stante, Jill Longstreet, Wendy Williams, and Pat Brennan.

The Candy Strippers are: Karen Kelly, Jan Powers, Cheryl Hoover, Mary Holstein, Pat Knepp, and Judy Toth.

Most of these girls are planning to be nurses. They feel that this experience brings them closer to the hospital and its procedures, and allows them to meet new people. It also presents a challenge and a sense of accomplishment when their jobs are well done.

If you are interested in being a Candy Stripper at St. Joseph call Mrs. Kruzer at CE 4-1889; or at Memorial, Mrs. Capes at CE 4-5596. Contact Mrs. Betsy Whitaker at the Red Cross Charter House CE 4-0191 if you would like to be a Junior Gray Lady.

Poll weighs student opinion of new outfits

By RICHARD BALOUGH

There is a new look in the cheerleaders' outfits this basketball season. Instead of the purple and white outfits, they now have an all yellow ensemble with a white "R" outlined in purple. The cheerleaders' opinion of the new outfits was summed up very nicely by Sue McCurdy, who said, "I like them very much."

Polls student body

After polling the student body, it was found that Sue is in the minority. The poll ran about 70% against and 30% for the new outfits. The common complaint was that they lack a sufficient amount of our school colors, especially purple. On the other side, the reason for a favorable vote was that they were gay and bright. Here are a few examples of the students comments about the outfits:

Prefers old ones

"They're O.K., but I like the old ones better," commented sophomore Karen Bernhardt.

"The varsity's new outfits are neat. Now the B-team cheerleaders should have new outfits," was the reply of Marilyn Kozak.

Kathy Klosinski, Lee Parker, and Buddy Carder all agreed that they liked them. Casting an unfavorable vote for them was Norm Radican who thinks that "they need more purple to show our school colors better."

"They need more purple"

"I like them because they are brighter, but they should have an all purple 'R,'" commented Connie Vlahantonis, "and they don't do a thing for the blonds."

"They should have more purple since our colors are purple and gold," commented Karen Koszyk.

"They're sharp in color," says Sharon Riba, "They're attractive, but they don't represent the school colors."

"They're too gaudy"

"I like them, they're cute," was the simple reply of Pam DeBuck, but Sharon Pylik disagrees with her: "I like the old ones better. The new ones are too gaudy."

Peggy Boyer thinks "They should have more purple. Our colors are purple and gold, not gold and white."

They're bright

"They're different, and they are bright, and they stand out," answered Kathy Sweitzer.

Barbara Blondell summed it up when she said, "I just don't like them."

In time the entire student body will approve of the new outfits. The colors are bright and cheerful in keeping with our bright and cheerful future in the sports field.

The girls who work in the three offices have many and varying tasks to perform

By ANN DERBY and
JUDY LEKASHMAN

Many girls work in one of Riley's three offices during their free periods.

The girls who work in the attendance office have three main jobs. First, they go through the halls collecting attendance slips. When they have all of them, they return to the office to make a chart. The chart is divided into sections representing home rooms. Pupils names are listed, then a mark is placed in the box indicating the periods of their absence. The fifth and sixth hours helpers look over the chart to see who has been absent a full day, and who has been absent only a half day. Attendance slips as well as absence admits are filed.

Routine is interrupted

Occasionally the routine is interrupted. Recently Pat Barson was seen delivering stuffed squirrels to one of the science classes. The other girls who help Mrs. Mikel throughout the day are: Judy Eads, Peg Thomas, Cheryl Bullinger, Rita Riggs, Jill Longstreet, Gelaine Walters, Carol McCuen, Susan Boyden, Kathy Kelsy, and Frances Lemanski.

Girls help counselors

The jobs of the girls who help the counselors and Mrs. Pence are: counting guidance bulletins for each home room, typing labels for cumulative record cards and folders, writing "Request for Interview" cards, answering the telephone and taking messages. In short, the girls do almost everything they can, with the exception of confidential information. Carol Staute, Alison Brenner, Marka Hesler, Sharon Hicky, Mary Kollar, Jerri Ann Nickoley, Sandra Poindexter, Liz Turk and Margie Wallis, compose this staff.

Tasks are numerous

Duties of the helpers in the main office are more numerous than those in the other two. They help people who have lost or found an article. They deliver messages from the main office. Also some typing is done by the girls whenever necessary. During second hour the girls sort mail, then they put it into the teachers boxes. Operating the switchboard is another of their many tasks, and quite often, when they are busy or excited, they cut such people as Mr. Crouse or Mr. Early off the phone. Once a girl cut off a teacher who was calling Los Angeles!

Carol Thompson, Rose Ann Madar, Donna Lehman, Kathleen Csenar, Lillian Chisholm, and Sharon Baily are some of the girls who make up the staff of helpers in the main office. The others are Norma Dietl, Carol Hanson, Judy Wozniak, Sherry Badmen, and Sharon Null.

Working in the main office gives the girls a chance to become better acquainted with the teachers. By working in all three offices the girls receive valuable training in being punctual, filing, typing accurately, etc. This will help many of them in their future careers.

It seems that over the years, contests between Riley and Central have traditionally become hard-fought, life or death matches. In the past, Central has been strong in wrestling and basketball. Riley has held a slight edge in the swimming pool.

Let's examine the specifics on each of these sports. In wrestling, Riley may hold a slight edge this year. Seniors in the lower weight divisions including those up to 160 lbs. should hold their own against the Bears.

After scouting the Central-Kokomo swimming meet we are convinced Riley will cop their December 24th meet by a score of 49-38.

The text of this column boils down to one simple, obvious question: what will the outcome of the Central-Riley basketball game be. Last week we contended that Riley should win both the sectional and conference. This was before the St. Joe contest. The Bears trounced St. Joe 77-49. What is Riley going to do against Central?

B-cats win fifth

By MIKE BOTICH and
BRUCE HILDEBRAND

Coach Jim Krider's B-cats won their fifth straight ball game last Friday night. They victims were the St. Joe Indians by a 25-23 count.

Gorman's tip

The game was tight all the way with a tie at 23 with two seconds left on the clock. Riley inbounded and sophomore Jim Gorman tipped into the hoop. After rolling around, the ball dropped through as the final buzzer sounded.

Cats at home

The B-teamers will be going against the Maroons of Mishawaka at Adams tonight preceeding the varsity contest. Six straight will be their goal at the 6:30 contest.

Catfish Win 2nd

By DOUG BROWN

The 1962 Riley tankers are embarking on a new consecutive dual meet winning streak. Their previous win streak of 15 was shattered by Kokomo in the season opener. The swimmers extended their present streak to two by downing Valparaiso last week by a score of 52-43.

Central will undoubtedly be the next team to succumb to the Wildcats venomous attack. As members of the swim team move toward their peaks, the tankers should be top contenders for the 1963 state title.

Riley's Wildcats were the victims of a fine St. Joe team effort last Friday evening, as the surprising Indians upended the 'Cats by the score of 56-50. The contest, which was played in the St. Joseph gymnasium, marked the third defeat for the slow-starting Riley five.

High point man for the game was Ted Northern, as the big center netted 18. The rest of the starting five including guards, Jim Glick and Joe Kramer, and forwards, Bill Adams and John Nelson; reserve forwards Milt Pittman and Dale Wiand saw considerable action.

The biggest thorn in the sides of the Wildcats turned out to be the smallest man on the court. This was 5 foot 7 inch senior guard, Dick Everett. Everett proved to be a very "cool cucumber" as time and time again he cashed in on costly fouls late in the game, hitting on 12 out of 15 attempts at the charity line. In addition, he quarterbacked his club very ably, not wilting under any pressure in the latter stages of the game.

Riley, however, was in command for the most of the first half, leading by as many as eight points; but after the first half gun sounded, it was Riley by a scant 27-26 margin. After the halftime intermission,

St. Joe came back very fired up and played a smooth second half, as the Indians grabbed a seven point 41-34 advantage at the end of three quarters of play. Riley never came any closer than within four points of St. Joe in the fourth quarter, the last time at 49-45 with 4:23 remaining.

The Wildcats will be trying to even their record at three and three tonight as they meet the Maroons from Mishawaka on the Adams gym floor. Rich Witkowski will probably be the Mishawakan to stop as he has scored 20 points in three games.

Mishawaka has played teams whose strength is questionable, Peru and Plymouth, but defeated two of the perennially strong Indiana teams of Logansport and East Chicago Roosevelt. With the Wildcats struggling to keep their heads above water, tonight's contest promises to be a good one.

Frosh even record

By TOM LETT

The freshman basketball team won a 42 to 28 contest over Goshen on November 21, at their first home appearance. After holding a slim halftime lead of 17 to 15, the team began rebounding and shooting consistently. Jewell Davis was high with 19 points.

The Frosh went to St. Joseph's and played to a 33 to 31 overtime loss. Jewell Davis and Mike Wegner shared the scoring honors with 12 points apiece. The Frosh were tied 29 to 29 at the end of fourth quarter and lost 33 to 31 in the overtime.

Bruce Walters poured in 17 points as the Frosh downed Elkhart North Side, 53 to 40. The Frosh led 37 to 34 going into the fourth quarter, but added 16 points to Elkhart's six to win 53 to 40.
